NEW MACHINE TO SET TYPE

WONDERFUL CONTRIVANCE INVENTED BY YOUNG MINNESOTA NEWSPAPER MAN.

The Le Seueur, Minn., correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle writes to that paper as follows:

Anyone who has seen one of the wonderful linotype machines at work would suppose that perfection had been reached in typesetting, but the fact is that Herbert Pettigrew, a young man employed in the office of the Mentone Weekly, in this county, has invented a machine that puts the linotype as far in the shade as they do a compositor with his "stick."

In appearance the machine is a good deal like a common typewriter, except that the keys strike down from above onto a plate extending from side to side of the machine. Across this plate, from left to right, passes, when the machine is being operated, a strip of white substance about a quarter of an inch thick that resembles soft, wet paper. It is delivered from a covered roll on the left side, drawn along to the right and wound upon another roll. It travels about a foot from the right side of the machine before reaching the roll, and as it travels is warmed and dried by a slight flame from wood alcohol which burns under the plate on which it travels. The type are the exact opposite from type used on a typewriter, and instead of printing letters on the roll as it passes they strike down into its soft surface and make therein a mold of the proper shape to cast therein the letter printed. They are so arranged automatically as to force of blow and with the guard in the form of a circle around the type bar that every mold is made exactly of the same depth in the roll. The type are themselves kept intensely hot by an alcohol flame and during the brief interval they are in the roll dry harden a slight shell of it about the impression made so that the next impression does not disturb it. Corrections are easily made by filling the wrong impression with a paste that is used and striking the letter again, or by cutting out a section of the roll and joining the ends once more. The roll is ordinarily the width of a galley of type and shifts sideways to and fro and then a space around, exactly as does a common typewriter, only in different directions. The machine is marvellously simple, costs only one fifth as much as a linotype machine, works about twice as fast and without needing workmen of special skill, and delivers for the final making up of the work an entire galley of type at a time instead of merely a line of type, as is the case with the linotypes.

Mr. Pettigrew will not patent the machine nor seek in any way to speculate on its wonderful invention, but gives it to the world free as his Carnegie donation, but with no string tied to it.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

From Napier New Zealand, Herald: Two years ago the Pharmacy Board of New South Wales, Australia, had an analysis made of all the cough medicines that were sold in that market. Out of the entire list they found only one that they declared was entirely free from all poisons. This exception was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, made by the Chamberlain Medicine Company, Des Moines, Iowa, U. S. A. The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be had; and it is with a feeling of security that any mother can give it to her little ones. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is especially recommended by its makers for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

OLIVE

Special to The Journal. Olive, Nov. 24.—On account of the death of Rev. F. M. Martin's mother he could not fill his appointment, but we are glad to say that the pulpit was well filled by Rev. Blitch of Pensacola.

The candy pulling at Mr. D. M. Merritt's for the enjoyment of little Gertrude Merritt and her many little friends was a great success. In attendance were Mr. D. S. Merritt and Mr. Vaughn of Illinois.

The public school No. 51 is expected to open December 1, with Miss Maggie Ousley teacher. The patrons are requested to send all of the children and attend occasionally themselves. We expect to have a model. Our superintendent Mr. N. B. Cook paid us a flying visit. We were glad to see him and hope he will come again and stay longer.

Herb W. Edwards Injured.

Herb W. Edwards of Des Moines, Iowa, got a fall on an icy walk last winter, spraining his wrist and bruising his knees. "The next day," he says, "they were so sore and stiff I was afraid I would have to stay in bed, but I rubbed them well with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications all soreness had disappeared." For sale by all druggists.

They Worship Smallpox.

"They worship smallpox in western Hindustan," said the missionary. His auditors gave a gasp of horror. "But don't misunderstand me. Don't get a wrong impression," he resumed. "I don't mean to say that they love smallpox and desire it. On the contrary, they loathe and fear it; hence their worship, a worship born of hate and terror."

"They have a goddess of smallpox. She has a cruel face, two mouths, four red hands. They pray to her regularly. Fresh flowers are always lying at her feet. A special priest tends her shrine."

"And much time and money are wasted on this goddess that might better be devoted to the purchase and application of some good pure vaccine virus."—Minneapolis Journal.

Shakespeare's Name.

It has often been a puzzle to students of Shakespeare why his name is spelled in so many different ways. Shakespeare himself is said to have signed his name on different occasions "Shakespeare" and "Shakespere," and learned disquisitions have been written to prove which is the proper spelling. None perhaps was more amusing than the "weather" reason given in 1851 by Albert Smith, who averred that he had found it in the Harleian manuscripts. It was as follows:

How did Shakespeare spell his name? Ye weatherers mayde ye change, we saye, So write it as ye please.

When ye come apace he mayde hys A. When wette he took hys E's.

LABORERS GIVEN WORK AT MIAMI

200 WHO RETURNED FROM F. E. C. RY., CAMPS NOW BUILDING WATER WORKS.

The Miami Record says: Very fortunately for Miami the waterworks improvements just at this time require a large number of men.

If this had not been the condition 160 men, who either would not go to the extension work, or, having been there, had returned to the city, would have been driven out of town hungry and with no shelter to do the best they could in the smaller communities to the north of this city.

Yesterday afternoon W. L. Kemper made arrangement by which the men could be fed, and made fairly comfortable for the night.

C. W. Schmidt, the caterer, was instructed to prepare a meal for the men, and each one was served with a supper consisting of a half a loaf of good, fresh bread, a good hot steak and all the coffee he could drink.

The men were taken to the city lot and there camped out for the night, many having their blankets with them. When the rain came a bonfire was built and every man had a chance to dry himself, and all were as comfortable as the circumstances would permit.

This morning each man was served with a hot breakfast and was given an opportunity to go to work on the ditch now being built for the use of the water works.

Not a man refused to go to work, and without a single exception, so Mr. Kemper reports, they have labored faithfully all day.

They are paid $1.50 per day, and until they can accumulate a few dollars, will be fed.

They are held, however, for the $12 which their transportation to Florida is said to have cost, and this will be taken from their wages at the rate of $5 per week.

The increasing number of workmen being brought from the north means that Miami will have to care for a growing floating population. Just why the railroad having imported so many men to work on the extension should be permitted to bring them back from the keys, and unload them on to this city does not appear clear to the average mind.

Those men who have been given work appear to be industrious and willing to work, but in the crowds that are coming many are not going to be so fortunate; and besides the demand for labor is about supplied, and the coming crowds will be a menace to the city.

To run men out of town will only be to transfer the trouble to smaller communities, less able to cope with the difficulty than is Miami. To send men, willing to work under ordinary conditions, to the rock pile would be a crime, and which would only postpone the day of solving the problem.

It is said that a large number of men will come down to-night, and a repetition of the painful scenes of the last day or two may be expected.

LITTLE INTEREST IN HOLLOWAY CASE

The Gainesville Sun of Thursday says: The principal business to come before the circuit court Wednesday was the case of the State vs. William M. Holloway, charged with criminal libel. The case was originally set for 9 o'clock in the morning, but at the convening of the court was postponed until 2 o'clock.

Promptly at that hour the docket was sounded, and all parties announced ready for trial. The court room was not unusually crowded, as was expected would be the case, which was evidence of the fact that this famous case had lost the original interest it commanded.

The afternoon was spent in securing a jury, and only five were selected. The panel having become exhausted, the sheriff and clerk, by order of the court, drew from the box a special venire of twenty names for this case.

WOMAN PREACHER.

A Practical Doctrine.

"My home was broken up some time ago," writes a venerable lady from Ohio, "and I spend my life going about, visiting my children."

"But wherever I go I take my Postum pot and a supply of the food coffee along with me. I cannot take the risk of being without it, for I firmly believe that were it not for Postum Food Coffee I would not be living to-day."

"I began to use it 4 years ago. For several years prior to that time I was a great sufferer from stomach and heart trouble and headache. I consulted the best medical talent, but medicine did me no good, and my condition seemed to grow worse instead of improving. I was practically given over as a confirmed invalid."

"Finally a doctor suggested that I stop coffee drinking, and although I was loth to do so, I complied. I was visiting my son-in-law in Ottawa, at the time. He was a Postum drinker, and at his urgent recommendation I began its use. It did not appeal to me at first, but I found that this was because it was not holied long enough. When it was made right I relished it."

"In due time, after the coffee effects had passed out of my system so that Postum could do its work, I began to get better in every symptom. My stomach ceased to trouble me, and digestion became normal. My heart action was restored to a healthy status, the headaches and nervousness grew less frequent and severe, and at last ceased altogether, and now I am well and strong, as few persons are at my advanced age."

"Be sure that I preach the Gospel of Postum everywhere to those I meet. I have converted many, especially my own children and grandchildren, who have all been made healthier, livelier and heartier by the use of Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There is a reason.
